Investment products and diversification

A consumer (or class of consumer) may intend to hold a product as part of a diversified portfolio (typically with an intended product use of satellite allocation or minor component). In such circumstances, the product should be assessed against the consumer's attributes for the relevant portion of the portfolio rather than the consumer's portfolio as a whole. For example, a consumer may seek to construct a conservative portfolio with a satellite/small allocation to growth assets. In this case, it may be likely that a product with a High or Very High risk/return profile is consistent with the consumer's objectives for that allocation, notwithstanding that the risk/return profile of the consumer as a whole is Low or Medium. In making this assessment, distributors should consider all product features (including its key attributes).

Consumer Attributes	TMD Indicator	Product description including key attributes
Consumer's investment objective
Capital Growth	In target market	Investors are seeking potential returns through capital appreciation and quarterly income distributions. The Fund is designed to generate regular and partially tax-effective income and capital appreciation by investing in a diversified portfolio of quality income-generating assets such as A-REITs, Listed Infrastructure, unlisted Property Securities, and unlisted Infrastructure Securities which own office, retail, industrial, residential, and property-related social infrastructure assets. Distributions can be reinvested in the Fund or paid to an investor's nominated bank account.

Target Market Determination - Alceon Australian Property Fund

Consumer Attributes	TMD Indicator	Product description including key attributes
Consumer's intended product use (% of Investable Assets)
Whole Portfolio (up to 100%)	Not in target market	Investors seeking exposure to 'pure' property and infrastructure listed/unlisted securities derive a high proportion of earnings from rental, recurring sources, and mature/contracted income. Fund offers exposure to the property and infrastructure asset classes in Australia and overseas and maintains moderate to broad holdings in these asset classes. Therefore, the Fund's portfolio diversification is Medium (see diversification definitions on page 7 below). Investors should use the Fund as a Satellite allocation to spread this risk across a broad portfolio of investments. Because of the diversified nature of the Fund's portfolio, investors may also use the Fund as a Minor allocation where an Investor has a high conviction to the Fund's strategy and has at least a High risk/return profile.
Major allocation (up to 75%)	Not in target market
Core Component (up to 50%)	Not in target market
Minor allocation (up to 25%)	See Issuer instructions

Consumer's investment timeframe
Minimum investment timeframe	5 years	Investors are seeking to invest in the Fund for the long-term. The Fund is suited to investors with an investment horizon of five years or more, however under ordinary circumstances, the Fund permits withdrawals, and the Issuer is typically able to satisfy withdrawal requests every week, and in any event, within 10 Business Days of receipt of a request. Therefore, investors with a shorter investment timeframe may be potentially in the target market.
Consumer's risk (ability to bear loss) and return profile
Low	Not in target market	The Fund invests predominantly in growth assets with only a limited holding in defensive assets such as cash and fixed income to target a higher return profile.
Medium	See Issuer instructions
High	In target market	The Fund aims to outperform the Australian Real Assets Index on a rolling three-year basis. However, the returns from the Fund are not guaranteed, and there are risks involved in the Fund.
Very High	In target market

		which may include the following:
Consumer Attributes	TMD Indicator	Product description including key attributes
		- Unexpected negative fluctuations in the value of the Fund's assets due to general market factors or security-specific risks. - The Fund's investments may not be easily converted into cash, and this may cause a delay or freeze in the payment of distributions or the processing of investor withdrawal requests. - The Fund may make poor investment decisions or inappropriate or incorrect investment methods, resulting in nil returns. It is expected the Fund may experience an estimated three to less than six negative returns over 20 years (SRM 3 – 5). However, an investor with a Medium risk/return profile may be potentially in the target market if they seek to construct a conservative portfolio with a Satellite allocation to growth assets such as this product.
Consumer's need to access capital
Daily	Not in target market	Investors are comfortable with withdrawal proceeds typically being paid within one week of the request being accepted under ordinary circumstances and are not seeking to make daily withdrawal requests.
Weekly (payment usually within one week)	See Issuer instructions	Under ordinary circumstances, the Fund permits withdrawals, and the Issuer is typically able to satisfy withdrawal requests every week, and in any event, within 10 Business Days of receipt of a request. However, net withdrawals of all Investors collectively are limited to 5% of the Fund's NAV per quarter. If withdrawal requests exceed this limit, then requests may be rejected or accepted on a pro-rata basis and carried forward to the next quarter.
Monthly	In target market	If withdrawal requests are received that cannot be satisfied from Cash or Listed Assets, then the Issuer will need to realise investments in Unlisted Assets, and this may take up to a year to realise these assets for their market value. In addition to regular redemptions, the Fund intends to offer Periodic Liquidity Events every five years, with the next event to occur within three months of 15 December 2024. If the number of withdrawal applications received in response to a Periodic Liquidity Event is greater than 50% of the number of Units on issue, then the Fund will be wound up.

Definitions

Term	Definition
Consumer's investment objective
Capital Growth	The consumer seeks to invest in a product designed to generate a capital gain. The consumer prefers exposure to growth assets (shares or property) or otherwise seeks an investment return above the current inflation rate.
Capital Preservation	The consumer seeks to invest in a product to reduce volatility and minimise the loss in a market downturn. The consumer prefers exposure to defensive assets (such as cash or fixed-income securities) that are generally lower in risk and less volatile than growth investments.
Capital Guaranteed	The consumer seeks a guarantee or protection against capital loss whilst still seeking the potential for capital growth (typically gained through a derivative arrangement). The consumer would likely understand the complexities, conditions and risks that are associated with such products.
Income Distribution	The consumer seeks to invest in a product designed to distribute regular or tax-effective income. The consumer prefers exposure to income-generating assets (typically, high dividend-yielding equities, REITs, fixed income securities and money market instruments).
Consumer's intended product use (% of Investable Assets)

Major allocation (up to 75%)	The consumer may hold the investment as up to 75% of their total investable assets. The consumer is likely to seek a product with at least high portfolio diversification.
Core Component (up to 50%)	The consumer may hold the investment as up to 50% of their total investable assets. The consumer is likely to seek a product with at least medium portfolio diversification.

Satellite (up to 10%)	The consumer may hold the investment as up to 10% of the total investable assets. The consumer may seek a product with very low portfolio diversification.
Investable Assets	Those assets that the investor has available for investment, excluding the residential home.
Portfolio diversification (for completing the key product attribute section of consumer's intended product use)
Very low	The product provides exposure to a single asset (for example, a commercial property) or a niche asset class (for example, minor commodities, crypto-assets or collectibles).
Low	The product provides exposure to a small number of holdings (for example, a portfolio of real property assets or fewer than 25 securities) or a narrow asset class, sector or geographic market (for example, a single major commodity (e.g. gold) or equities from a single emerging market economy). e.g., high conviction Aussie equities.

Term	Definition
Medium	The product provides exposure to a moderate number of holdings (for example, up to 50 securities) in at least one broad asset class, sector or geographic market (for example, Australian fixed income securities or global natural resources).
High	The product provides exposure to a large number of holdings (for example, over 50 securities) in multiple broad asset classes, sectors or geographic markets (for example, global equities).
Very high	The product provides exposure to a large number of holdings across a broad range of asset classes, sectors and geographic markets with limited correlation to each other.
Consumer's intended investment timeframe
Minimum investment timeframe	The minimum suggested timeframe for holding the product. Typically, this is the rolling period over which the investment objective of the product is likely to be achieved.
Consumer's Risk (ability to bear loss) and Return profile
The Issuer has adopted the Standard Risk Measure (SRM) to calculate the likely number of negative annual returns over 20 years, using the guidance and methodology outlined in the Standard Risk Measure Guidance Paper for Trustees. The assessment has been undertaken assuming likely returns after fees and costs but before taxes. SRM is not a complete assessment of risk and potential loss. For example, it does not detail important issues such as the potential size of a negative return or that a positive return could still be less than a consumer requires to meet their investment objectives/needs. The Issuer has supplemented the SRM methodology by other risk factors. For example, the use of leverage, potential impact of liquidity and other withdrawal limitations, which have been documented together with SRM to substantiate the potential risk rating
Low	The consumer is conservative or low risk, seeks to minimise potential losses (e.g., can bear up to 1 negative return over 20 years (SRM 1 to 2)) and is comfortable with a low target return profile. The consumer typically prefers defensive assets such as cash and fixed income.
Medium	The consumer is moderate or medium risk in nature, seeking to minimise potential losses (e.g., can bear up to 4 negative returns over 20 years (SRM 3 to 5)) and comfortable with a moderate target return profile. The consumer typically prefers a balance of growth assets such as shares, property and alternative assets and defensive assets such as cash and fixed income.
High	The consumer has a higher risk nature and can accept higher potential losses (e.g., can bear up to 6 negative returns over 20 years (SRM 6)) to target a higher target return profile. The consumer typically prefers predominantly growth assets such as shares, property, and alternative assets with only a smaller or moderate holding in defensive assets such as cash and fixed income.

Very high	The consumer has a more aggressive or very high-risk appetite, seeks to maximise returns, and accepts higher potential losses (e.g., can bear six or more negative returns over 20 years (SRM 7). The consumer typically prefers growth assets such as shares, property, and alternative assets.
Consumer's need to access capital
The Issuer has considered in the first instance the redemption request frequency under ordinary circumstances. However, the redemption request frequency is not the only consideration when determining the ability to meet the investor's requirement to access capital. To the extent that the liquidity of the underlying investments or possible liquidity constraints (e.g., ability to stagger or delay redemptions) could impact this.
Daily, weekly, monthly, quarterly, annually, or longer.	The consumer seeks to invest in a product which permits redemption requests at this frequency under ordinary circumstances and the issuer is typically able to meet that request within a reasonable period.
Review triggers and Distributor Reporting
Significant Dealings	Section 994F(6) of the Act requires distributors to notify the Issuer if they become aware of a significant dealing in the Fund that is not consistent with the TMD.. Section 994G of the Act requires the Issuer to notify ASIC if it becomes aware of a significant dealing in the Fund that is not consistent with the TMD. Neither the Act nor ASIC defines when dealing is 'significant', and distributors and the Issuer have the discretion to apply its ordinary meaning. Whether or not a dealing is significant is a matter to be determined in the circumstances of each case and must be determined having regard to ASIC's policy in RG 274. The Issuer will rely on notifications of significant dealings to monitor and review the Fund, this TMD, and its distribution strategy and meet its obligation to report significant dealings to ASIC. Dealings outside this TMD may be significant because: - they constitute an individual transaction that has resulted in, or will or is likely to result in, significant detriment to the consumer (or class of consumer). In each case, the distributor should have regard to: - the nature and risk profile of the product (which may be indicated by the product's risk rating or withdrawal timeframes), - the actual or potential harm to a consumer (which may be indicated by the value of the consumer's investment, their intended product use, or their ability to bear loss), and - the nature and extent of the inconsistency of distribution with the TMD (which may be indicated by the number of red or amber ratings attributed to the consumer). Objectively, a distributor may consider a dealing (or group of dealings) outside the TMD to be significant if: - the consumer's intended product use is Whole portfolio, or - the consumer's intended product use is the Core component, and the consumer's risk (ability to bear loss) and return profile is Low.
